

It is important in a democracy to keep the media from being controlled by only a few companies. The FCC should not further deregulate the media. We need information from many sources and many angles to be an informed citizenry.